

Critical Environment Supply

The Newsletter of Critical Environment Solutions Ltd

CES launch range of Pal International Surface Wipes

CES have launched a range of wipes from Pal International. Pal products are renowned for their high quality across a range of industries that operate in critical environments or where contamination control is of primary importance.

Applications

Pal manufacture wipes for a range of uses, including surface disinfection, hand sanitising and skin cleansing.

Efficacy

All Pal International products undertake rigorous internal and external testing ensuring product efficacy, safe performance and compliance with EU international standards.

Benefits

- Convenience
- Ease of use
- Non-tainting
- Skin safety
- Reliability
- Effectiveness
- Superior packaging
- Economy

A single use of a Pal wipe ensures the delivery:

- of the right Amount
- of the right Formulation
- to the right Location

A broad spectrum of activity is guaranteed—Pal disinfectant wipes kill 99.9% of viruses, fungi and other micro-organisms on contact.

Class 100 consumable repack facility gains full audit approval

The class 100 repack facility sited at the companies Swindon facility has received full audit approval from a major UK pharmaceutical company.

The facility can offer consumable repacking within a class 100 batch controlled environment. The service is tailored towards customers who have a requirement for products in a non standard configuration, such as customised pack sizes, multiple bagging or visitor kits. Products (subject to suitability) can be sterilised by gamma irradiation if required for use in aseptic environments and supplied with a certificate of conformity.

CES website hits new high

CleanroomDIRECT.com

The CES website has continued to hit new highs with record levels of sales being recorded during June, July and August 2009. Sales Director Steve Hufton, commented that in addition to an increase in turnover being achieved through the site, the sales office reported that a number of new sales enquiries originated as a result of a visit to the website.